Creating beautiful spaces

Melanie Henson and Josée Lalonde love to work together to create beautiful spaces. Whether we are staging homes that sell sooner and for more money, or designing homes that our clients are thrilled to call their own, we bring our passion for design to every project. "In staging, our strategy is to help buyers fall in love with their new home." With interior design clients, we help uncover individual style, and inspire you to play on the edge of creativity. Our proven process enables you to have visibility on your project, and we promise to deliver your beautifully-designed space on time and on budget. "We truly believe there is no place like home, and you should love every aspect of it."
